

HNG EM-41 Fireplace

Above is the vinyl duct & the lever that appears to open & close some type of damper. The wire that you see is from a previous remote control for the gas logs.

This is the front view. If you look close you can see the "damper" lever. I can feel with my fingers a "channel" in the front of the firebox where I assume it allows air to enter the firebox from the bottom.